

EVRAZ Modern Slavery Act Transparency Statement for the Financial Year Ending 31 December 2020

INTRODUCTION

This statement provides an update on EVRAZ' progress on implementing the transparency requirements of the UK Modern Slavery Act 2015 (the “Act”) during 2020 and our plans for further enhancements in coming years.

This statement is made by EVRAZ plc, on its behalf and on behalf of its relevant subsidiaries (collectively, “EVRAZ”, “the Group”) in accordance with section 54 of the Act.

BUSINESS AND ORGANISATIONAL STRUCTURE

EVRAZ is a large steel, mining and vanadium business with production facilities in the Russian Federation, the USA, Canada, the Czech Republic and Kazakhstan.

We have three main areas of operations, as follows:

- 1) the Steel segment represented in Russia, the Czech Republic and Kazakhstan
- 2) the Coal segment in Russia
- 3) the Steel, North America segment in the USA and Canada

The Group has customers in 70 countries, among them steel rolling facilities, wholesale companies and traders, railways and rail carriers, industrial and construction companies, steelmaking facilities, and energy transmission operators.

We primarily engage our suppliers for the following goods and services:

- geological exploration, appraisal, mining and mineral extraction services and equipment, transportation of minerals, and manufacturing and sale of our products
- security and facilities management at our offices and the provision of agency and temporary staff

The year 2020 saw no significant changes in the Group's supply chain in terms of the location of our suppliers. The total number of EVRAZ suppliers is 12,379.

EVRAZ has 69,699 employees worldwide, 95.1% are based in Russia and the CIS, 4.7% in North America and 0.2% in Europe.

According to the Global Slavery Index, these regions represent low and moderate risk. Our extensive customer and supplier base is, however, more geographically diverse and we acknowledge the positive impact EVRAZ can have on creating transparent business procedures and partnership relations, and we strive to achieve this.

OUR APPROACH

EVRAZ does not tolerate any form of slavery, servitude, forced or compulsory labour, human trafficking or other forms of slavery, and these are strictly prohibited at all Group subsidiaries and by their suppliers.

We are committed to preventing the occurrence of modern slavery and human trafficking at our assets and in our supply chain, regardless of their locations.

We conduct risk assessments to determine which parts of our business and which of our suppliers and subcontractors are at risk of committing modern slavery acts. We engage with our suppliers regarding modern slavery issues to understand better the steps they have taken to prevent any occurrence of modern slavery in their businesses. We will also perform due diligence throughout the lifecycle of our own operations to determine whether remedial action is required.

EVRAZ' commitments are based on the best international standards and practices. We adhere to the principles of the UN Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the International Labor Organization's Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work, the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights and the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development's Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises in all of our sustainable development activities.

STANDARDS AND POLICIES RELATED TO MODERN SLAVERY

We have several policies and standards in place to guide our approach to business integrity, preventing modern slavery in our business and across our supply chain, and seeking to achieve zero harm to people, society and the environment. These policies and standards, together with several others, are available on the Group's website:

- Health, Safety and Environmental Policy
- Anticorruption Policy
- Code of Business Conduct
- EVRAZ Supplier Code of Conduct
- Human Rights Policy (adopted in 2020)
- Diversity and Inclusion Policy (adopted in 2020)

In 2020, EVRAZ supplemented the Anticorruption Policy and Code of Business Conduct with policies on managing conflicts of interest and on sponsorship and charitable activities. These procedures allow for the more efficient management of corruption-related risks.

Last year, EVRAZ amended the Procurement Regulation to establish a clear framework for procurement procedures. The updated Procurement Regulation has been implemented across all of the business units, ensuring that procurement processes are now uniform throughout the Group.

Besides the above policies and regulations, we use a model clause for combating modern forms of slavery in the contracts that we enter into. The clause obliges the other party to comply with and to ensure the compliance of any subcontractors with all applicable laws and regulations related to modern slavery.

As a global company, we have employees and partners from countries where laws and regulations differ from our policies. When this is the case, we apply the highest available standard in place respecting human rights and mitigating the risk of modern slavery practices.

RECRUITMENT

EVRAZ pays particular attention to identifying and addressing human rights risks, including those related to recruitment and working conditions. The Group embraces the principle of equal opportunity when hiring and prohibits all forms of discrimination. Staff recruitment is conducted in full compliance with the laws of the countries in which the Group operates, including relevant regulations governing labour protection, minimum wage levels, annual paid and parental leave, collective bargaining agreements, health insurance, pensions and personal data protection.

Where we engage suppliers to recruit employees, we ensure that strict compliance checks are carried out on all prospective candidates. We have in place a process to undertake due diligence and verify the identity of each worker and their right to work before engaging with them.

TRAINING AND AWARENESS

As a part of onboarding process, every employee completes our training on labour protection. This covers such topics as human rights and diversity, the prohibition of any form of child labour, bonded labour, human trafficking and other forms of slavery, conflicts of interest and other ethical issues.

In 2020 alone, nearly 2,200 Group managers completed online anticorruption training developed by a leading international provider in the field. In addition, the compliance officer developed several internal training modules to familiarise employees with or refresh their active knowledge of the Anti-Corruption Policy and the Code of Conduct. Another initiative, launched in December 2020, and currently being tested, is to invite vendors to learn about EVRAZ' anticorruption principles. So far, nearly 200 managers from contractor companies have passed this specialised course. This work is continuing in 2021.

Every meeting with more than 15 participants begins with a “five-minute-safety-alert”, where the speaker provides a run-down of EVRAZ' safety rules and principles, including the strict observance of safe and equitable labour conditions and prohibition of any form of slavery.

MONITORING

There are several functional teams at EVRAZ that are responsible for ensuring our compliance with all laws and regulations, including those designed to prevent modern slavery as well for ensuring the transparency of our business processes. These include the Legal, Compliance, HR and Internal Audit teams, all of which monitor compliance with our processes and continuously review and update our policies to reflect international best practices.

Our policies and internal procedures are reviewed on a regular basis. Based on the results of our risk assessments, we conduct due-diligence investigations of our suppliers. We also seek to ensure that all high-risk suppliers are familiar with obligations to comply with legal requirements to eliminate modern slavery in their businesses and to self-report any breaches to us.

REPORTING

EVRAZ encourages employees and stakeholders to adhere to the principle of transparency and to report cases of misconduct or issues that they find concerning or suspicious, using a 24/7 whistleblowing hotline which guarantees anonymity. The Group operates two separate whistleblowing hotlines:

- the Corporate Whistleblowing hotline for all major assets, including the Siberia Region (Steel and Coal segments), the Urals Region (Steel segment), EVRAZ Vanady Tula, and EVRAZ Metall Inprom
- the EVRAZ North America (“ENA”) hotline

Incoming reports are registered in the IT system and then allocated to relevant specialist department (e.g. HR, HSE, Security), depending on the subject of the report. The relevant experts then analyse the report and take specific measures to resolve the issue. If the report is not anonymous and the person has provided contact details, the Group informs them about the status of the report as well as any relevant measures taken. All complex, controversial, or sensitive issues are handled by the Hotline Committee (for the Corporate Whistleblowing hotline) and the Hotline Team (for the ENA whistleblowing hotline), which include senior executives, providing the Group with confidence that all appropriate measures will be taken to address any reports. As a result of the well-structured process in place for handling reports, there is growing confidence in the whistleblowing hotlines among the Groups’ employees and stakeholders. In 2020, 1,096 reports were submitted via the Corporate Whistleblowing hotline, and 49 via the ENA hotline. None of these alerts related to issues of modern slavery or human trafficking within EVRAZ or the supply chain.

OUR PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

In addition to continuing the current efforts that started in 2016, we plan to focus on education and collaboration in order to foster awareness of the complexity of modern slavery within supply chains. We expect to undertake the following activities throughout 2021:

- updating of the Anticorruption, Human Rights, Health, Safety and Environmental policies to reflect existing and best practices
- transferring to internal training modules and testing to make anticorruption courses much more specific and relevant to the Group
- creation of a separate hotline section on EVRAZ' corporate websites

We recognise we have more work to do to identify and manage the risk of modern slavery in our Group and supply chain. We will continue to engage with our stakeholders on modern slavery and look to identify further areas of improvement.
